

PRESS RELEASE: Southampton Pride of Place Project Photo Competition

Organised by The Caravan Gallery in association with Solent Showcase

Deadline: midnight on Tuesday 25th October 2016

Exhibition dates: 1st - 30th November 2016

COMPETITION BRIEF:

What does Southampton mean to you?

The Caravan Gallery, in association with Solent Showcase ask: How do you see Southampton? What is it like to live in this city? Have you seen a sign or shop display that made you smirk or a street scene that surprised or amused you? Would you like to draw attention to any unsung attractions - or unattractions - that escape the notice of the average visitor, or resident, for that matter? What is really typical of Southampton?

To complement their touring exhibition extra{ordinary} - Photographs of Britain by The Caravan Gallery at Solent Showcase, The Caravan Gallery is setting up a month long Southampton Pride of Place Project in a temporary venue at 108 East Street so that people can share their views about the city. Part exhibition, part reverse visitor information centre where it's the visitors who provide the information, the Southampton Pride of Place Project will ask the people of the city to take a closer 'warts and all' look at their shared habitat and define what makes it unique and extraordinary.

As part of this investigation The Caravan Gallery invite the people of Southampton (native and adoptive) to take part in an open submission photography competition. The Caravan Gallery's intention is to create a snapshot of the reality - and surreality - of life in Southampton. Jan Williams of The Caravan Gallery comments:

'We want to encourage the people of Southampton to view their city with fresh eyes, to astonish and surprise us with their observations from a local and personal perspective. Look beyond the obvious and show us what's special, unusual or perhaps typical of everyday life in this part of the world.'

The most captivating and idiosyncratic competition images selected by The Caravan Gallery and Solent Showcase will be turned into prints and displayed in the Southampton Pride of Place Project, an evolving exhibition created from public contributions and featuring images of Southampton by The Caravan Gallery. Prizes will include a signed copy of extra{ordinary} - Photographs of Britain by The Caravan Gallery, a brand new book published to complement the touring exhibition. as well as tickets, vouchers and merchandise donated by local businesses. All submissions will be uploaded to a special blog: <http://thecaravangalleryphotocomp.blogspot.co.uk> and there will be a visitors' choice prize for the photo with the most votes.

extra{ordinary} - Photographs of Britain by The Caravan Gallery has been on show throughout 2015-2016 at the following venues: Northern Gallery for Contemporary Art, Sunderland; Impressions Gallery, Bradford; Ffotogallery's Diffusion Festival, Cardiff; Museum of Lancashire, Preston; and Middlesbrough Institute of Modern Art. The tour continues to Solent Showcase, Southampton. In each city the exhibition is supported by a participatory Pride of Place Project and mobile exhibition in The Caravan Gallery - a unique gallery in a caravan which will tour the local area.

So think hard, look harder, grab your cameras, get snapping and submit your images before midnight on Tuesday 25th October to photocomp@thecaravangallery.photography. We look forward to your interesting insights and unusual observations that show the real - and surreal - Southampton in all its authentic multifaceted splendour!
